

Letter to the Editors

Dear Editors,

By the shamrocks in the putting green, by the "green" in the business office, by the magnificent blarney overheard at the mixers, by the fighting spirit of the Pumas, with a fullback named Murphy, and basketball players like Danny-boy and Finnegan, and by the playful twinkle in the smiling eyes of profs Shea, McCarthy, O'Dell, Duggan, Kelly, etc., its obvious that a little bit of heaven has also fallen on Indiana—110 miles west of South Bend.

Of course, 'tis a shame that there are no green-eyed, black-haired colleens at St. Joe. I hear that a bonnie bikini lass named Brigitte is quite popular, though, around there. 'Tis also a pity that the quality and quantity of good Irish whiskey is limited in Indiana, in spite of its Gaelic name.

If you miss the colleens, the whiskey, the good fights, if your face is getting green from the cafeteria food, if your profs are insulting you with courses in (ugh) English, and (phew) English literature, if Sullivan forgets to mention you in his column, remember, lads, the IRA needs men!

On behalf of my fellow saints, your own Joseph, Francis and Thomas, I want to wish everyone at St. Joe a very happy My Day.

Sincerely,
St. Pat

Regina Concert To Swing Into Pumasville, March 14

by Glenn Clausen

Don't leave! Collegeville is going to Endsville this weekend, swinging right out into one of the biggest social events on the calendar, the Regina concert.

On March 14, the talented charmers from Ohio will drift in to bring a smile to your wind bitten faces, as they continue a pleasant St. Joe tradition of entertainment for the Pumas.

Mr. Cletus E. Meckenborg, their director, has helped the girls plan a four part show calculated to brighten the saddest man on campus. The Easter season will be ushered in reverently by the girls in their opening numbers.

Just to show us that they are always thinking of St. Joe they will follow up the Easter numbers with a skit which will allow us to peek in on their annual preparation for the trip to Collegeville, from first practice to actual arrival.

Hold Up Stage

The girls travel by bus but they will be holding up stage coaches in a laugh-provoking spoof on TV westerns. "Hang Down Your Head, Tom Dooley . . ."

Winding up with a stroll along Memory lane the girls will feature the numbers which "sent" the Pumas in past years. Of course you will get to join in the "Fight Song" as Regina closes for another year at St. Joe.

The show may end but the music will continue at the mixer, to be held in the Rec Hall after the concert. Girls from St. Francis and Mundelein colleges will grace the campus with their charms along with the Regina girls that night. All in all, close to 200 girls will be on campus this weekend.

Mellow music for the mixer will be provided by St. Joe's own combo, the Upperclassmen.

Committee Makes Plans

Arrangements for the entire weekend were made by the Dance committee, with co-chairmen Tim Sullivan and Bernard Larue in charge. Larue recently replaced Norm Lozen as head of this committee.

Sullivan and Larue state that, "If everything works as planned, this should be one of the best mixers so far this year. The fact that over 175 girls are expected should add to the enjoyment."

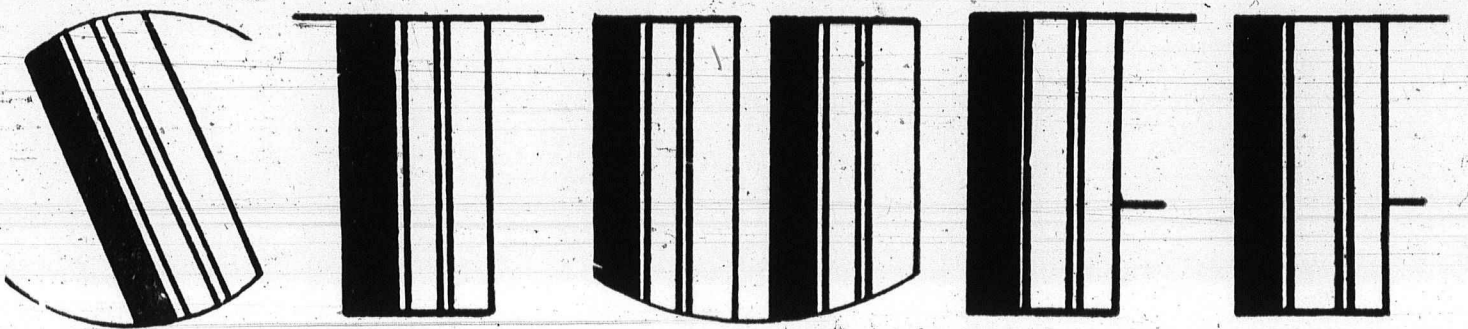

Last year a 62-member group of Regina singers presented a variety of highly entertaining numbers, ranging from religious songs to swing tunes. Besides using the effectiveness of their voices, the Regina girls usually depict scenes and perform short acts with a small amount of props.

A weekend to remember before Spring fever and mid terms hit us!

Regina Is Coming

The singing, swinging sweethearts from Cincinnati's Regina high school will be marching to St. Joe on March 14.

Fee Increase and NFCCS Gain Majority Vote Needed

by Jerry Mauch

Members of the St. Joe student body decided to adopt two student council proposals in an all-campus referendum vote Monday. Both the proposal to raise the student activity fee from $5 to $10 and the decision to join the National Federation of Catholic College Students received a more than two-thirds majority vote, as is required by the council constitution.

Out of 934 students now attending St. Joe, 644 cast ballots at the voting table in the cafeteria, constituting 69 per cent of the student body.

Of these 644, a total of 444, or 69 per cent, voted to increase the activity fee, two persons cast blank ballots and 198 voted against the issue. On the NFCCS proposal, 560, or 87 per cent, voted "yes," six abstained and only 78 students voted "no."

In order for the decision to be declared, each issue must have at least two-thirds of the 644, or 430 votes. The activity fee increase was adopted by only 14 votes while the NFCCS decision passed by a comfortable 130 marks.

Having been shown necessary by the first semester deficit of $2,042.23 in the student council budget, the activity fee increase was proposed at one of the council meetings in the latter part of the first semester.

Interest in the NFCCS has been growing on campus throughout most of last semester. This organization is a union of all the Catholic colleges throughout the nation to discuss matters of campus, social and political life. Its most important unit is the campus chapter which sponsors various discussions and workshops for college students. All members of the organization in each region are invited to attend these meetings. Regional conferences are usually held at various intervals during the year, with approximately two large national meetings yearly.

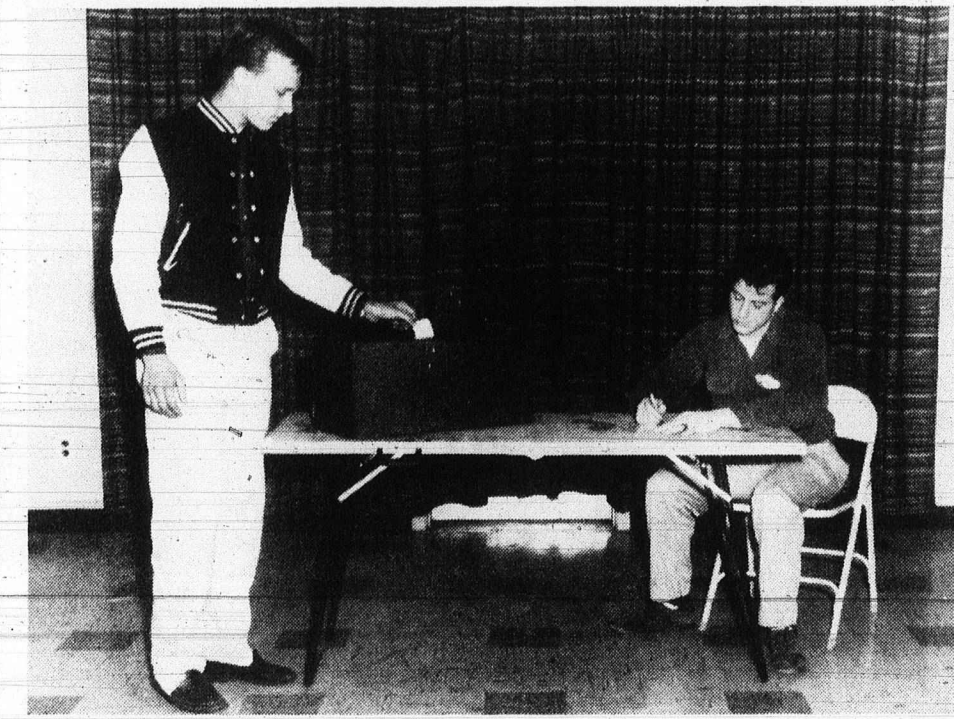

Student council president Marty Bena states, "We of the student council are very pleased to see that the students considered these proposals and realized the necessity for the fee increase and the value of belonging to a national organization such as the NFCCS."

Atom Story Book of Month

"Our Friend the Atom," a Walt Disney story by Heinz Haber, has been selected as the March Book of the Month. The faculty of the Division of the Natural Sciences made the selection for this month.

Man's long and dramatic search for the atom is described in this easy-to-understand, illustrated volume. Mr. Heinz, aided by the versatile Walt Disney, traces the history of the atom from three thousand years ago, when man was just beginning to grasp the concept of fire, to last year, when the United States christened the world's first atom-powered submarine. Here is an exciting account of the development and use of the atom.

The book is available at the college bookstore and at the neighborhood agencies for 35 cents. On Tuesday, April 7, at 8:00 p.m., there will be an informal discussion of the book in the college cafeteria. Free coffee will be served.

Don Hoessler (L.) drops his vote in, while John Brynes deliberates on the Student Council and NFCCS referendums.

C.P.P.S. Priests To Hold Electoral Chapter at SJ

Priest members of the Society of the Most Precious Blood, American Province, will hold an Electoral Chapter at St. Joseph's college on Tuesday, March 31. The members will vote for a new Provincial Superior and four others who will be the Provincial's Council. These elections occur normally every six years and follow the norms laid down by the Church's code of Canon Law.

One of the duties of the Provincial is to appoint the president and officers of St. Joseph's college. Any major policy changes the school would like to administer have to be checked with the Board of Consultors.

The Very Rev. Seraphim W. Oberhauser, C.P.P.S., is the present Provincial. The rules of the Society have a two-term limit on this position; so Fr. Oberhauser, who has already served two terms, is ineligible for re-election. A priest may, however, be returned to this position for a third term but they cannot be continuous.

Board of Consultors

The present Board of Consultors are: Rev. John Byrne, C.P.P.S., first Consultor; Very Rev. Herbert Linenberger, C.P.P.S., second Consultor; Rev. Robert Stukenborg, C.P.P.S., Treasurer; and Rev. Harold Diller, C.P.P.S., Secretary. Fr. Stukenborg was in the business office at St. Joe a few years ago. Fr. Linenberger is a previous rector of St. Charles seminary.

Administration of the Society in America is part of the duties of the Provincial. He also assigns members to various posts and must visit each house in the province every three years. The Board serves in an advisory capacity.

300 Priests Expected

Over 300 members are expected to attend the Electoral Chapter. They will come from as far as Chile in South America, and California and Florida. The Society currently has 20 priests stationed in Chile. Eleven other members are in the Armed Forces' chaplaincy.

The Very Rev. Herbert Kramer, C.P.P.S., Moderator General of the Society, will also be on campus. His office is in Rome, Italy. Fr. Kramer is an uncle to Fr. William Kramer of the college staff.

To be elected Provincial a priest must be at least 30 years old and must be temporarily professed for 10 years.

Entries Open For Alumni Essay Contest

Professors of the English Department are now accepting entries for the annual Alumni Essay Contest. This award, which is made on Parent's Day, offers a first prize of $25.00 and a second prize of $15.00. All entries must be submitted before midnight, April 2.

Essays entered may be of any type: factual, speculative, or personal, but honors theses and formal research papers are excluded because they are not meant to be literary. Father Druhman, director of the contest, has strongly urged the student body to participate in it. "Remember," he stated, "the prize is very close to the awarding of these prizes and the extra money will help out."

The following instructions hold for this contest:

1. Entries must be original (and may not include a previous winner).
2. If more than one entry is submitted, a different pen name should be used for each one.
3. Three typed (double-spaced) copies must be submitted. Carbon copies are accepted.
4. The title page must contain: (a) the title, (b) your pen name, and (c) the name of the contest into which the work is being entered.
5. Inside an envelope, on a slip of paper, place: (a) the pen name and (b) the real name. On the outside, place (a) the title of the entry and (b) your pen name. Then seal the envelope.
6. Give the entry and sealed envelope to any one of the English professors. One need not be enrolled in any English course in order to be eligible.

Monon, O Handy Monon Forsake Us Not Now

One of the more convenient means of transportation from campus to Chicago, Michigan City, Indianapolis and Louisville is the Monon railroad with its station in Rensselaer. Hundreds of St. Joe students depend on this service every year and would be put at a great loss without it.

At present, the Monon runs one evening and two morning trains out of Chicago. Going from Rensselaer to Chicago, one morning, one afternoon and one evening train is operated. These times are very convenient for the students here at college to make proper connections.

Within the last year articles have appeared in various newspapers stating the possibility of the Monon's discontinuance of passenger service in areas that would affect the Rensselaer community.

This possibility has been debated at the Monon's general offices in the Chicago transportation building and, as of yet, no decision has been made public.

When students at Indiana university heard of the possible loss of this service, they brought the matter before their student council. As a representative of all concerned, the I. U. council sent a statement to the Monon urging that the passenger service be continued. A statement such as this from a large group is almost bound to have some effect on the railroad's decision.

Since many St. Joe students are dependent on train transportation, we believe that our student council would be performing a worthwhile function for the school if it would send a similar statement to the Chicago office. For the Monon officials to know that St. Joseph's students need their service can do no harm.

Pumaville's 'Thunder Road'

In much the same manner as the popular Roadrunner cartoon, some drivers on the St. Joe campus appear to have adopted a principle of "Lay on the horn and let everyone else beware."

Since our campus is not at all similar to the streets of Europe where this policy is almost a custom, such fast and noisy driving is very dangerous to the average student who treads the pavements.

How long will it take these drivers, students, faculty and employees alike, to start realizing that they could be endangering many lives by their foolishness? We have no speed traps and traffic cops to show them the way.

Selective Service Qualification Test

Applications for the April 30, 1959 administration of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service system local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to take this test should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided to SELECTIVE SERVICE EXAMINATION, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, New Jersey. Applications for the April 30 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, April 9, 1959.

According to the Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification test for the Selective Service system, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once. The results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student.

Thinking Men Prefer:

by Joe Lillich

The question for this issue is simply: "Name one outstanding thing about St. Joseph's and at the same time name one thing you would change here at the school." The comments are very interesting! Pay careful attention to the tone in which they are answered.

Nothing, everything!!

Anthony M. Caldron, Jr.,
Battle Creek, Mich.

Dear Tony,

Your comment apparently is very concise and extremely complete.

The most outstanding thing about St. Joe's is the pretty pond in front of the Administration building, and I would change my socks but unfortunately I'm on my last pair.

James McCullough, Jr., Chicago, Ill.

Dear Jim,

Sears-Roebuck, page 246 (Winter catalogue), number 23345—all the socks you need!

One outstanding thing about St. Joe's is its Rec hall. Decently equipped and well-staffed, it provides a good place to spend idle hours. Its bull sessions over a good cup of coffee will long be remembered by me.

As far as changing things goes, a good place to start is the entrance to the main road. Some sort of gate or archway at the entrance would make the place look impressive to one who enters as well as one who just passes by.

Joseph Kanamuel, Jr., Chicago, Ill.

Dear Joe,

The only persons you left out in your change are those leaving by way of the "proposed archway." I guess, though, your attitude is a typical Pumavillian outlook: Once you get in—give up!

I think one of the most outstanding things here at St. Joseph's is the fine spirit. This helps to bring about more of the will to win. The thing I would change here at St. Joe's is the turning off of the lights at 11:30 for freshmen. If a person has some extra studying to do he is unable to do so because of the lights going off at 11:30. I would at least extend this time to 12:30.

Charles Port, Fr., Chicago, Ill.

Dear Charlie,

You had better keep those "fine spirits" under cover, and as for that "extra hour of darkness" why not get them out then?

To me the most outstanding things here at St. Joseph's are (1) the beautiful proms and homecoming dances held in the spacious Rec hall; (2) the great exams given just after a big dance on campus; (3) the luxurious pay schedule enjoyed by all St. Joe student workers; (4) the short, friendly lines that form during meal time in the cafeteria; and (5) above all the fascinating lectures which we are taught by each day. As for changes at St. Joseph's, I would suggest changing all my outstanding points.

Thomas Cusick, Jr., Detroit, Mich.

Dear Tom,

Ditto.

St. Joe's has many good points and has shown great improvements in the past few years. The thing that is most outstanding this year is the entertainment put on in the auditorium with the appearance of Dyer-Bennett, the band and glee club concerts and the Talent Show.

Just How Green Is That Grass?

Dear Editor:

On the matter of your editorial, "SJ's 'Angry Young Men' Have Gripe—Will Moan," you may find the following letter of interest. It came from a lad who was forced to withdraw recently from St. Joseph's college because of financial difficulties.

He writes:

"I leave St. Joseph's with deep regret because I've spent two joyous years there and have learned to love the school as I do my own home. My studies, social activities, friends, both student and faculty, will remain fresh in my memory always. It is my intention to keep St. Joseph's as my alma mater even though I'll be attending another school."

Our office files contain other letters, too, along the same line. For example, here are a few words of a letter from a student who transferred to Illinois university. "In closing," he writes, "I would like to mention that all of the St. Joe's transfer students wish we could be back there. We know the truth of the old saying, 'The grass is always greener on the other side of the fence.'"

Fr. Robbins
Registrar

It seems to me that there is too much conflict between the factions of the administration especially over the emphasis on sports and over whether St. Joe's is going to continue to grow or not. Therefore, for the morale of the student body and the boys who play sports, I hope the administration will institute a program which will not vary so idiotically year to year as it has in the past.

Richard Meister, Jr., Gary, Ind.

Dear Dick,

To summarize, then, let us continue to have good entertainment, let us hope for some real enthusiastic faculty athletic supporters and let us establish in our minds whether we will grow on the intellectual plane or on the numerical plane.

St. Joseph's student body is friendly—this is the really outstanding point of the college. A change definitely needed exists in upper Noll. The silent fire alarm and invisible fire hose will not produce the desired results in case of emergency.

Ronald Knoezer, Jr., Lansing, Ill.

Dear Ron,

Don't buck school policy—"desired results" has two meanings.

I think the social adaptability of the students here at St. Joseph's is superior to those that I have encountered in other colleges. One change I would like to see here is the faculty attitude towards athletics. Sports are not only important for promoting alumni interest, they also provide the school with a name by which it is in many cases known. This is not a contradiction to intellectual standards for there are many examples of fine schools with a strong well-supported athletic department.

Gerald Walker, Sr., Evergreen Park, Ill.

Dear Jerry,

True, because when mentioning athletes around some of our faculty they think only of feet.

The outstanding thing about St. Joe's is the relationship between the faculty and the students. If you were in a prof's class he will remember you and will say "hello" every time you meet him. Of course, there are exceptions to this but as a general rule you can not beat the close relationship here at St. Joe's.

On the other side I would like very much to change the sidewalk situation. There are numerous sidewalks on campus which will never need to be replaced because no one ever uses them. Yet, where the sidewalks are needed the students must wade through a sea of mud. An example of this is the path from Noll hall past Gallagher to the Administration building.

Martin Rosinski, Jr., Calumet City, Ill.

Dear Marty,

This change you propose sounds like a concrete suggestion.

I don't care what anybody says; I like the food here. I've eaten lunch at various other colleges, and their food just can't compare with ours. We can eat as much as we want, but at the others a student is limited to one serving—and that usually is unpalatable. I think if the students here had a chance to compare our food with any other college's, they'd agree with me. I believe that good food—and lots of it—is an outstanding feature of St. Joe's.

I can't think of anything that would really need changing. I'm happy the way it is.

Pat Goedert, Fr., River Forest, Ill.

Dear Pat,

Yes, let us count our blessings (though few). Life is a banquet and most poor suckers are starving to death.

Duo Pianists Please SJ With Precision & Variety

Playing before a large audience of St. Joseph's students and faculty members, Arthur Ferrante and Louis Teicher, world-renowned duo-pianists, showed their ability to please every type of music-lover Thursday night, Feb. 26, in the college auditorium.

The duo-pianists devoted the first half of their concert to classical selections. Their most outstanding feature was the perfect precision and timing with which they fingered the keys. Smooth-flowing arrangements of some of the world's greatest composers reached a "modern" college audience with above average acceptance.

Play Modern Music

Sensing the desires of college students, Ferrante and Teicher came back after intermission with a program of modern show music and a number of popular selections.

Performing in a standing position, the musicians began plucking and strumming the piano strings with one hand and pounding the keys with the other to produce an effect of many instruments playing at once. This sound was the one which made their recordings famous and which pleased the St. Joe collegians the most.

In concluding their program, the pianists were given a huge ovation which brought them back for several encores. Ferrante and Teicher showed that they enjoyed pleasing their audience by playing music to fit the mood.

Show Sense of Humor

Included among the more popular numbers which they played were a medley from "My Fair Lady," a Latin American Sum-Up and a variation of "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Infusing their personality into the announcements of their pieces to the audience, the duo used a good sense of humor to lighten the formal atmosphere which prevailed during the first half of their performance.

Both Ferrante and Teicher were very appreciative of the reaction of the St. Joe students. Ferrante stated, "It was a pleasure to play for such a fine group." Having come here from LaCrosse, Wis., they left St. Joe for Kankakee, Ill., and an extensive tour of the West.

History Club Talk, March 19

Democrat or Republican, you're sure to be interested in the first History club lecture of the semester. Mr. Richard L. Kilmer, associate professor of history, will dig into the pros and cons concerning the present Administration in "The Eisenhower Administration Reconsidered." The lecture will be given on the night of March 19 in Merlini lounge.

Mr. Kilmer's talk, postponed last semester, will be the first in a series of three lectures dealing with pertinent historical and political questions. All are invited!

Collegeville Confidential

by Tim J. Sullivan, Jr.

St. Joseph's college is not very different from many other colleges and universities in many aspects. We have our unprintable songs, and our unprintable poems. Fortunately for us, there are also some people on campus who have the ability to write poems which are not only printable, but have in them a large degree of humor.

One would be fairly safe in saying that a goodly majority of Collegeville's population knows who the "Old Philosopher" is, (and we are not referring to any member of the S. J. faculty). Anyone who has ever been to a Talent Show knows it is Bob "Harvey" Hoffswell. "Harv" wrote the following epic, expressly for this column, in an attempt, as he said, "To raise the quality of that darn thing for at least one issue!"

The Battle at Washington Bridge

by Robert A. Hoffswell

'Twas a cold winter's night in old Collegeville town, and there was word that the Valpo boys soon would be down.
The senior class fellows were cruising the town square, all schnookered up on old man Wahl's beer.
The skies grew black with dark, ugly clouds, and the townies were gathering 'round in big crowds.
"Looks like a jam!" cried an observant young chap, as he pulled a stiletto from under his cap.
A black, shiny Ford on the scene appeared, and the Rensselaer streets were once again cleared.
"Oh darn!" cried young chappie, "Oh nuts!" cried his friends, "I thought we'd have a chance to do up on their heads!"
The glowing red beer sign died to a glimmer, and the moon on the Iroquois cast a faint shimmer.
To the boys chappie said, "Gee, it looks nice!" as the bridge was wiped out by a big chunk of ice.
"Yikes!" cried chappie, "Did you guys see that?" "Hell no," said someone, "Where's the six-pack at?"
The vanguard moved on, patrolling the town: the time of arrival of Valpo was around.
The vehicle moved down the long road. "Rensselaer, 10 miles" said the sign on the pole.
"We'll get those Pumas!" said a nasty young man, "Yea, we'll paint 'Valpo' on the steps again."
"They'll all be sleeping, and boy they'll be mad, when they see what we've done while they were in the pad!"
"Ha, Ha!" said one voice, "Ho, Ho!" said another, "Ha, Ha!" said a third, "Hoo, Ha!" said the other.
"Where's the key?" said a voice, "Here," said young chappie, "Use my stiletto."
"But I'm not opening a big box of jello. I never heard of any Jello Schlitz. Hey! Maybe Miss Skinner would be interested in this."
A car rounded the corner. "It's the north-town lookout!" "Valpo's a comin' and they're not too far out."
"There's four of 'em on a beat up Schwinn bike, and I don't think they know we're out for a fight."
"Come on!" yelled chappie to the now gathering throng, "And be sure to bring those empty beer cans along."
"We'll set up a barricade at the end of the street. The bridge is gone there—ah! that'll be neat!"
"53 turns here, so let's all lean to the right." "Hoo, Hah!" cried a voice, as he fell off the bike.
"Yikes!" yelled three, "Hoo, Ha!" said the last, "The Puma's have all assembled en masse!"
"We've got to make it around the last bridge. Look out for those beer cans, we're going over the edge!"
"We got 'em!" yelled chappie, "They're there on the ledge! I think the times right, we've got our revenge!"
"We owe it all to those cans of beer! Yikes! I can smell those rats way over here!"
"Their bicycle's broke, and they'll all have the flu. Of course for them, that's nothing new!"
"We shouldn't have done it!" said one, two, and three: "Hoo, hah!" said the last, "Hey you guys, it's me!"
"Egad!" cried the Pumas, "It's our Dean of Men, and he just tripped over an empty beer can!"
"Ding Dong!" said the Deacon, "But revenge never pays! I'll see you logans back in five days!"

'Twas a cold winter's night in old Collegeville town, and the Pumas had just put the Crusaders down.
The Seniors were all going to leave in disgust, when Fr. Shaefer came in and said, "Here's your excused cuts!"
finis

(Out of deference to the dignity and position of Mr. Hoffswell, we have decided not to include our usual closing line, "No man is poor as long as he can still laugh!")

Hanley Contest Sets Deadline For Essays

Fr. Clarence J. Kroeckel has announced that April 2 is the deadline for submission of essays in the annual Hanley Science Award contest. This is the first day of class after the Easter vacation. The deadline has been moved up considerably this year in order to give the judges enough time to carefully inspect the essays.

Cash prizes will be given for the first and second place essays, with $100 going to the winner and $50 to the runner-up. William A. Hanley, '08, of Indianapolis, the sponsor of the contest, donates the first place prize money and Dr. Frank A. Benchik, '42, of East Chicago, Ind., donates the second place award. Both men are members of the Board of Lay Trustees of the college.

The contest was originated when Mr. Hanley came to the conclusion that students majoring in science did not receive enough training in speech and written composition. He felt they should learn to express themselves better, so, when the Hanley Science Award was first instituted, it was an oratory contest. Each entrant had to give a lecture on some topic concerned with science and the winner received $50.

Changed To Essay Contest

As time went on, fewer and fewer students entered the contest. Many shied away from the idea of giving a speech before a large group of people. Thus, the Hanley Award became an essay contest. Eventually, Mr. Hanley increased the prize money to $100 and the Division of Natural Sciences added another $50 for second place. Now, however, Dr. Benchik donates the second place money.

According to the rules of the contest, all juniors and seniors who are majoring or minoring in the natural sciences are eligible to enter. They may submit their essays to Fr. Kroeckel, the head of the Division of Natural Sciences, in room 209 of the Science building. There must be three copies of each essay submitted and they are to be signed with a pen name. Along with the essay, each entrant is to hand in a sealed envelope containing a card with his name, his pen name, and the title of his essay.

Use Popular Style

The topic of each essay must deal with science and the entrant should remember to use popular style. The essay should be of moderate length and no bibliography is necessary.

A special committee, delegated by the Division of Natural Sciences will judge the entries and select the winners. They will base their decision on the appropriateness and interest of the topic, clarity of style, neatness and knowledge of the subject.

Ray Tennant won first place last year with his essay, "Stigma," which appeared in this year's winter edition of Measure. Ed McDermott was second with his essay on leukemia, entitled "The Gap."

The awards will be presented on Parent's Day at the college in May. As in the past, this year's winning essay will be printed in Measure some time next year.

Gaspar Hall Experiments With Study Hour Plan

by Bob Rospenda

It all started one Sunday afternoon in Gaspar Hall right after lunch. Everybody was full of roast beef and didn't feel like doing anything in particular except talking. There were about seven men wedged into a first floor room along with Fr. Joseph A. Otte, hall chaplain. Everyone was in the mood for talking, and topics were ranging from the Cuban revolution to the Chicago Black Hawks. Somewhere along the line the subject of studying and the recent plague of bad grades arose. This topic was hashed around for a while and most of the men started to get pretty serious and began speaking their mind.

It was noted during the course of the discussion that at many times during the day it became difficult or even impossible to study in the halls, and because of this, many were forced to the library or other places of refuge to do their studying.

Father Otte made the suggestion that the fellows discuss this problem further and try to come up with a plan or idea to reduce or even eliminate it. This was done, and a week later the entire group of freshmen on the first floor of Gaspar hall met with Father in his room.

Two Week Trial Period

With all 15 men in favor, a gentleman's agreement was reached for a study plan. It would first be put on a trial basis for a period of two weeks. At the end of this time another vote would be taken to determine if the plan would be continued.

Briefly, the plan is as follows: 1) no room visiting between the hours of 7-11:30 p.m., 2) no loud radio playing or excessive noise in the halls, and 3) a general atmosphere of study should prevail in the hall at all times. Most important of the three is of course the first.

At the end of the two week trial another vote was taken. All 15 freshmen concerned were in favor of continuing the plan. As things stand right now, it will be in effect until the mid-term.

The purpose of the plan is not to add another "don't" to the student's list, but as Father Otte states, "It is merely meant to respect the rights of others who wish to study."

A Gentleman's Agreement

It should be stressed that this is a gentleman's agreement. There is no prefecting to enforce these rules; it is entirely up to the 15 fellows to respect them.

As Phil Cody, one of the 15, mentions: "I think the new study plan is helping everyone. The way we have it set up, there is no loud radio playing, yelling in the halls, or room visiting after certain hours. Everybody concerned seems to like the idea because all the guys are going along with it. If a guy wants to 'goof-off,' he quietly slips off to the Rec hall or the fieldhouse."

Another comment comes from Tony Carcione. He states, "The study plan we have started in our hall has shown me that time was wasted by most students in the hall before this plan started. As for myself, it gives me a chance to put more time in on assignments that were usually done hurriedly before."

2nd Semester Enrollment Dips

Total student enrollment at St. Joe's for the second semester of the 1958-59 school year fell off slightly from the record number of 996 established in the first semester. According to statistics recently released by the Office of the Registrar, 934 students registered for the spring semester.

Of the original 996 students who attended St. Joe last semester, 881 returned. There were 31 new students and 22 others who had previously attended St. Joe re-enrolled.

As usual, the freshmen had the largest class with 356 men. The sophomores number 256, the juniors 151, and the seniors 163. Eight special students also have registered for this semester. There are 60 day students.

Guard Jimmy Koehler was voted the most outstanding player in the district NAIA playoffs. Jim scored 22 and 14 points in the tourney.

Al Whitlow battles Indiana State for a tip in the finals of the NAIA district playoff in Terre Haute. Whitlow hit 15 in a losing cause.

Pumas Beat Anderson; Fall to Sycamores in NAIA

St. Joseph's Pumas reached the finals of the NAIA District 21 playoffs by defeating Anderson college, 92-84, Tuesday night, March 3, but were defeated by Indiana State the following night, 85-69, for the district honors. The Sycamores are representing the district in the National NAIA championship tournament at Kansas City, March 9-14.

Playing on Indiana State's home court in a virtually empty field-house, coach Joe Iofredo's charges had two sources of consolation; Guard Jim Koehler, who replaced Dan Rogovich in the starting lineup in the final three games, was voted the most outstanding player in the district tourney, and the Pumas came home with the runner-up trophy after winning their first game in NAIA post-season play by dumping Anderson the night before.

The loss gave St. Joseph's a final 12-11 season record while Indiana State carried a 17-8 mark to Kansas City. It was the Sycamore's second win in three starts this season against the Pumas; their sixth victory in a row, and their 11th win in the last 12 starts.

St. Joseph's held the lead for most of the first 20 minutes of the ball game and, with the aid of Jack Finnegan's 20 points, took a 34-32 margin to the locker room at intermission. But the Sycamores ganged up on the 6-4 center in the second half and began building a margin which was too much for St. Joseph's to overcome. The Pumas, with Bobby Williams on the bench early in the second half with four fouls, held a 40-36 lead with 16:39 remaining in the game. At this point Indiana State scored 11 straight points and built a 47-40 margin and the Pumas were never again able to catch the Sycamores.

Approximately 800 spectators, rattling around in the 3,000 seat building, quietly witnessed their alleged home club shoot at .412 accuracy from the floor.

The Pumas hit 35 per cent of their shots. Finnegan, who was held to three points in the second half, paced the St. Joseph scoring with 23 points and grabbed 22 rebounds.

Score At Half—St. Joseph 34, Indiana State 32.

On the previous night St. Joseph's patchwork Pumas, playing with five varsity members and four intramural players, defeated Anderson college in the first round of the district playoffs.

Led by guard Bobby Williams, who scored 35 points and grabbed 12 rebounds, St. Joseph's won their first game in history in post-season play. They were shelved in the first game at Kansas City back in 1940, and in their only other two appearances—in 1955 and 1957—they were beaten by Anderson in the opening round of the playoffs.

The victory also broke St. Joseph's five game losing streak. Anderson, who finished in second place in the Hoosier conference, wound up its season with a 13-12 mark. Last night's victory snapped a five-game Anderson winning streak.

Indiana State dumped Taylor, Hoosier conference champions, 86-73, in the second game of the opening round.

Puma's Hit .474

St. Joseph's enjoyed their hottest night of the season as they hit at a .474 clip from the field and sunk 20 of 27 from the free throw line. Anderson put up a strong battle, hitting .386 and connecting on 16 of 18 free throws.

The Pumas pulled away in the middle of the first half and held a 41-36 lead at intermission. They increased the spread to 12 points in the first three minutes of the second half but then Anderson went into a press which bothered the Pumas and, after four minutes, the score was tied. At this point St. Joseph's regained control and began building a lead which they never relinquished. Anderson unleashed one last flurry in which they came within six points with 1:50 left, but Williams sunk four free throws in the final minute to put the Pumas out of reach.

Here's the Pitch

St. Joe Nine Looks To Opener With Wabash, April 4

by Ron Lawnzak

With the beginning of the baseball season approaching quickly, coach Robert Shemky believes his squad will be "much more solid" than last year, but a few weak spots cause him to be neither pessimistic nor optimistic.

The squad will be deep in all positions, except pitching. An experienced infield and promising outfield should make the Puma defense as good as any in the conference.

Greg Grothouse, Bob Gallaher, Ed Vrdolyak, Pete Simon and Angie Dattomo, at present, form the nucleus of the pitching staff with no distinction between starter and reliever as of yet. Out of these five, Dattomo's arm is still a question and Simon is untested.

Two very promising pitchers from last year's frosh squad who left school were Frank Bergman and Joe Gobeille. According to coach Shemky, Bergman could throw as fast as Jancich. No other sophomores are coming up.

Coach Shemky stated that he expects Puma hitting to be good this season but this fact is really hard to predict. He pointed out that hitting is not nearly as important as pitching.

Outfield Lacks Experience

In the infield the Pumas have three-year men, Tom Freehill at second, Jim Gagliano at third and Ray Kuzniar at shortstop along with Jack Finnegan, who will be playing his second year of varsity ball, at first. Sophomore Tom Roemer is expected to give Finnegan a battle for his position.

All in all, the outfield is less experienced than last year with the loss of Carl Kozlevcar and Bob Hamman, but sophomores, Tom Dobson, Al Whitlow and Ernie Kolesiak will battle for the right and left field positions along with junior Jim Moulthrop.

As last year, Jim Koehler will be holding down the center field position.

Catching is the Pumas' strongest point at the present. Tom Deem will be behind the mask with senior Jim Rogers and sophomore Bob Gronemann following close.

Shemky explained that the loss of Hamman, Kozlevcar and Jancich will hurt the Pumas the most since these men will be the hardest to replace.

Looking at the baseball schedule for this year, the St. Joe mentor believes that Valparaiso and Indiana State will be the toughest, along with an up-and-coming Ball State nine. St. Joe ended the season last year in third place with a 7-3 ICC record and a 9-5 season win-loss ratio.

1958 Batting High

Other figures from last year include the following batting averages: Kozlevcar, .375; Koehler, .366; Deem, .362; Finnegan, .327; Hamman, .300; Freehill, .297; Kuzniar, .240; Gagliano, .238 and all others, .172.

Fielding percentages for the Puma nine were also high: Koehler, .967; Finnegan, .964; Hamman, .933; Deem, .929; Kozlevcar, .909; Gagliano, .852; Kuzniar, .831; Freehill, .792 and all others, .952.

Team averages in batting and fielding were .282 and .916.

Intramurals

by Mike Goldrick

The intramural season is moving into its final phase, The Student Council tournament. The league races are fast drawing to a close. The A league championship is still up for grabs between the Bennett 7-7's and the Noll Overtakers. Both have identical 9-0 records. They will meet this Thursday in the make or break game for both teams. The Overtakers displayed a good deal of offensive power in crushing the W. Seifert Hudepols and the Noll Dribblers. They have two big offensive threats in Bob Jancich and Ted Bendis. Both have hit double figures regularly during the season.

The 7-7's playing without three of their starters, who were with the varsity at Terre Haute, won easily from the Prefects and the Merlini Merlins. Their big gun all season has been Jack Clifford, who has averaged upwards of fifteen points a game all year. He has been receiving yeoman support from Jim Gagliano, Tom Freehill, and Larry Mortenson. The game figures to be a real knockdown and dragout battle all the way. Bob Decker, of the Gallagher Guzzlers, broke the IM scoring record by meshing 45 points as the Guzzlers romped against the patch work Prefects.

An old (and when I say old I mean relatively old) name is on top of the heap in the frosh league. It's the Merlini Puma-kittens. It seems they have picked right up where they left off in touch football. They are sporting a 9-0 record and are making motions of walking away from the rest of the league. I have been told to serve notice on the Overtakers and 7-7's when the tournament rolls around. The Puma-kittens are sounding the war drums.

The B league race is still in chaos. There are three teams all neck and neck, the Halas Hamsters, the Noll Trotters, and the Brewers from Bennett. All have played each other so it will take some other team to break up the log jam.

In other IM news, the ping pong tournament is in full swing. The first round is over and last year's runner-up, Ed Vrdolyak, is making the motions of heir apparent to the throne Pete Schumaker vacated via graduation. Vrdolyak has been runner up for two straight years and this could be his year. But you know what they say: "Always a bride's maid never a ping pong champ."

The doubles champs are back from last year, Dan Rogovich and Ed Vrdolyak by name. They are renowned throughout the ping pong world as the "Courageous Croations."

Club News

The Commerce club heard a talk on the stock market given by Mr. James Bogan, former registrar of St. Joseph's, on Wednesday night, March 4. Mr. Bogan is now employed as an account executive of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith in Chicago.

Stressing job opportunities in the brokerage field, Mr. Bogan explained the need for experience in his line of work and gave a brief account of how brokerage firms are run.

Plans for a field trip to visit the South Bend Studebaker plant and the Drewrys brewery there are now being made by the club. Committees have also been appointed to select the winners of the various club awards given to seniors every year.

On Tuesday, February 24, club members heard a talk on sales in the radio industry given by Mr. Gerald Gladu, a 1954 graduate of St. Joseph's. Mr. Gladu is an advertising salesman for a Kankakee, Ill. radio station.

The Fort Wayne club is making plans for its annual banquet to be held sometime after Lent. This banquet is usually held during May in honor of the graduating senior members of the club.

Sponsoring of either an Easter dance or a mid-summer dance was discussed at a meeting March 3 but no actual vote was taken.

In order to publicize the school to high school seniors in Fort Wayne, the club purchased an advertisement in a sports booklet which is put out by the Booster club of Fort Wayne Central Catholic high school.

Final reports on the expenses of the Thanksgiving dance and the New Year's party were given and both events were established as successes.

The Motor City club worked on revisions of its constitution at its last meeting and drew up a recommended list which is still to be approved.

Plans for an Easter dance were discussed but not definite place or band was chosen. The date of March 30 was suggested as the most appropriate day for the dance.

The Lake County club will hold its annual Easter dance on Monday, March 30, at the St. John Panel Room, 119th and Lincoln in Whiting, Ind.

Music and entertainment will be furnished by the Diplomats. The dance will begin at 8 p.m. and everyone is welcome.

The Vet's club will conduct a bingo in the Rec hall Thursday evening, March 12. This bingo will be open to all members of the student body. Tickets may be obtained in advance from any member of the club. The price of one dollar purchases a card which may be used the entire evening. Cards may also be purchased at the door.

To enable the winners to receive a worthwhile sum, at least $100 will be given away. There will be at least 10 games, meaning that each game will cost only 10 cents. The amount of prizes and games could increase, depending on the size of the crowd.

The Rifle club held its first meeting of the second semester on February 12 and its second on March 10. At these meetings new members were admitted and the membership was closed for the year.

At an intra-squad rifle match held by the club recently three teams competed for honors. The team led by Dan Talbot with Frank Caccamo, Gerry LaFontain, Paul Kolesar and Jim Hegarty (of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.) took first place. The top five shooters out of all the participants were Floyd Winner, Dan Talbot, Frank Caccamo, Ken Guzik and Tom Geary in that order.

A pistol match was also held between two club members and two members of the Indiana State Police department recently. The State Police placed first and second but the club shooters felt that the experience of competing against top-notch shooters was invaluable.

Williams Leads SJ, ICC; Pumas Set 15 New Records

St. Joe's speedy, high-scoring basketball Pumas established 15 new school records during the 1958-59 season. Bobby Williams and Jack Finnegan, two stalwarts for coach Joe Iofredo all year long, set two new individual marks apiece. The Puma squad cracked 10 team records and tied another. Below are listed the new records and complete individual statistics for the season. (Records broken are listed in parentheses next to the new mark.)
